DEMOCRATS OPTIMISTIC

Declare Wilson Is Upheld if the November Republican Vote Is Not Larger Than That of Monday

By PERRY ARNOLD
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

AUGUSTA Me., Sept. 12.—Return of progressives to the republican fold will make the G. O. P. majority in Maine's elections more than 12,000 practically complete returns Tuesday.

The reunited party made a clean sweep of it in the Pine Tree state gubernatorial, senatorial and congressional. It increased republican strength in the state legislature.

Two years ago the progressive gubernatorial candidate polled a trifling over 18,000 votes, and the democrats won by about 3,000. The difference is about 15,000 votes. The republicans claimed 15,000 would be practically the total of their majority.

In other words, they claimed that practically 100 per cent of the bull moose had returned to the old party. But whether or not Maine's vote can be taken as "pointing the way" to what will happen in November was a disputed point among politicians, because the republican majority was not nearly what it used to be in the old days of Frye and Hale, and this despite the fact that the total vote probably will be the largest ever recorded in the Pine Tree state.

The republicans were jubilant because the issues of the campaign were almost exclusively national and because Senator Charles F. Johnson, running on his record as a Wilson democrat and supported by the entire strength of the democratic administration, was defeated by a progressive prodigal who returned to the G. O. P. fold—Frederick Hale, son of former Senator Eugene Hale.

They found additional satisfaction in the unexpected indications that a republican apparently defeated "Dan Mack"—otherwise Congressman Daniel McCallister, in the second district where twenty-four hours ago they were almost admitting lack of hope of turning out one of the most popular representatives in Maine.

The democrats, on the other hand, pointed to the fact that Maine formerly was republican by 25,000. Governor Oakley Curtis, in a statement at Portland admitting his own defeat by Carl E. Milliken, republican, summed up the democratic view when he remarked:

For the short term as United States senator, Bert M. Fernald, republican, said.

How Maine Went

On the face of returns from 93 per cent of voting precincts, the republicans made a clean sweep.

Frederick Hale (republican) has a plurality which will probably reach 10,000 over Senator Charles F. Johnson (democrat) for the long term in the senate.

Bert M. Fernald (republican) will probably have a plurality over Kenneth H. C. M. Sills of 13,000 for the short senatorial term.

Carl E. Milliken (republican) is elected governor by 13,000. All four congressional nominees elected, according to present returns, although the vote in the Second district is exceedingly close and may possibly be changed.

Biggest vote recorded in Maine's political history for thirty-six years, running considerably above 148,000. Republican majority less than republicans had hoped.

GERMANS BECOMING DISSATISFIED WITH FOOD DICTATORSHIP

Absolute Ration Basis in Sight if "Food Organization" Is Continued Much Longer

FAMILY CANNING HURT

Sugar Scarce and Housewives Who Usually Canned Fruit Find Themselves Unable to Do So Now

By CARL W. ACKERMAN
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

BERLIN, Sept. 12.—The German people are becoming more and more dissatisfied with the new government food department. The optimistic statements of Herr Von Batocki, the new "food dictator," about the food outlook led the people to believe that by fall conditions would be greatly improved. But instead of becoming more plentiful, food supplies are becoming more and more organized, until within a short time, if the distribution of cards is continued, food will be on an absolute ration basis.

"Though the crops were good this year, there will be probably so much 'organization' that food will spoil," said one German.

At present each family is entitled to eight different kinds of food cards. They are for bread, potatoes, sugar, fats, milk, eggs and one for certain dried vegetables, saccharine and oatmeal. Because of the growing shortage of marmalade and cheese two more cards may be added to the list.

Canners Are Hurt. The lack of sugar, tin and rubber have prevented many families from doing their own canning and have had a big effect on the canning factories. The factories are using saccharine and a syrup made from carrots for sweetening. Because of the shortage of tin many factories are drying food heretofore canned. Families that forgot to save rubber bands from last year's fruit jars discovered that their fruit was doomed to spoil this year.

This year's harvest was about 25 per cent better than last year's, making it a normal peace time harvest. But because of the necessity of creating a surplus in case next year's harvest is not so good, no more wheat and oats will be available for present consumption than in the past few months, according to present plans.

The socialists and some of the newspapers are beginning to criticize the food department.

Regulate Milk Supply. Because of a growing shortage of milk, new regulations have been posted whereby milk is to be delivered to families with children under ten and to sick people. Special milk cards are given to families showing birth certificates of their children, each child receiving one liter (a little over a quart) a day.

REORGANIZATION GOES OVER FOR LACK OF QUORUM

For lack of a quorum, the re-organization plan proposed to the stockholders of the Farmers' Co-operative Packing company at Monday's meeting in Yeoman hall was not acted upon. Instead, after discussion of the project, the board of directors was empowered to select another date for a meeting at which strenuous effort will be made to assemble a quorum. Later in the day the board selected October 17 as the date.

The re-organization plan which a quorum is sought to ratify contemplates formation of a new $100,000 company, which shall take over the assets of the present company at $50,000—twenty per cent of its original value. The balance of the stock in the new company, $50,000, is to be sold, according to the proposed plan, to present stockholders or others. The money thus raised is to be used as working capital for the plant.

At a test vote of the stockholders at yesterday's meeting sentiment was for the re-organization about two to one.

BADGER TROOPS TO RETURN SOON AFTER LONG HIKE, BELIEF

Orders Received by General Holway Providing for Mustering Out of Militia by Companies

SEES AN EARLY RETURN

Says Men Must Return Before Winter to Demobilize or Remain in the South

MADISON, Wis., Sept. 12.—Judging from the latest orders received at the adjutant general's office from the federal war department, demobilization of the state troops now on the border will start shortly after the return of the Illinois and Wisconsin regiments from the 170 mile hike from San Antonio to Austin and return on Oct. 5. Orders have been received calling for a change from the individual discharge method used in the national guard to a muster out by company. This is taken as an indication that the troops will shortly be recalled.

"I think that the Wisconsin regiments will return to the state within ten days after the return from the Austin hike," said General Orlando Holway Tuesday. "Either this, or they will stay in the south all winter. Most of the troops are from the northern states and a demobilization in the winter months would require at least ten days at the state camps. Few of the states have facilities to care for the men at the camps during cold weather."

Branch of the state headquarters to be opened in La Crosse is the near future, it was announced Tuesday in party circles. Norris C. Bacheller, candidate for the state senate, will be in charge of the branch. Mr. Bacheller is now in Montana, and the office will be opened immediately upon his return.

The branch headquarters will take charge of the campaign in this section, directing the itinerary of speakers and working with the county and local committees in all the neighboring counties.

BULGAR SOLDIER GLAD "ON THINK" WHICH LED TO VAST CORRESPONDENCE

John Toneaff, Bulgar veteran serving with Company M in the Third Wisconsin in Texas, no longer mourns because his mates get letters and he gets none. In fact, John is overburdened with correspondence, as the result of a letter he sent THE TRIBUNE, in which he said he felt bad when all the other boys got letters and he got none. He is very glad "on his think" which made him appeal through THE TRIBUNE for correspondents.

Toneaff got just 123 letters as a result of that epistle, he says in a letter recently to B. F. Locke, proprietor of the Woman's Exchange, for whom he worked before the troops were called out. His letter follows:

"Received your kind letter of the 21st next month, and was very glad to hear from you. I thought that you knew that I would like very much English. Also I am very glad on my think, in ten days I received under twenty-three letters. You, Sir, asked me for what I need. Many tanks, I have not needed for nothing. There we leave from San Antonio and hiked to New Braunfels Texas first day was very easy; but the second day was very hot, and two under fifty men fell out from our regi-

SCHWEIZER'S RECOUNT DOESN'T CHANGE VOTE

Judge Leonard Kleeber Holds Advantage of Four Votes Over J. George Schweizer and They Shake Hands

JOLIVETTE POLLS HEAVY

Present County Clerk Gets the Biggest Single Democratic Vote with 909

Judge Leonard Kleeber, winning republican candidate for the office of clerk of circuit court, and J. George Schweizer, defeated candidate, shook hands warmly in the court house on Monday afternoon after a recounting of two precincts on the petition of Schweizer brought no change in the vote.

"You only beat me by four votes," Schweizer said with his "smile that won't come off."

The matter was referred to the buildings and grounds committee, with instructions to formulate a plan of action. The superintendent and president of the board were instructed to obtain temporary quarters for the pupils deprived of their school home by the condition of the building.

Cost More Than Worth. That it will cost more than the building is worth to repair it was indicated by L. F. Easton, chairman of the grounds and buildings committee, discussing the matter with THE TRIBUNE Tuesday morning. He said the old high school is hopelessly out of date, badly situated, and impossible of adequate remodeling.

"We got an estimate five or six years ago regarding the cost of improvement," Mr. Easton said. "It was $25,000. That ran us up against a stone wall, because the council couldn't appropriate the money, and we've been letting it run since. We did not want to spend much money in repairs on a building so out of date."

That abandonment will be the recommendation of the committee in all probability was the impression gathered from Mr. Easton's statement. He said that the Longfellow school, Sixth and Vine streets, is much more advantageously situated, being off the business-traveled streets to a greater degree, and in addition is much more modern in construction. The Longfellow school could accommodate the pupils of the old high school with the erection of an addition, Mr. Easton said.

The lighting of the old high school is of an old type," said Mr. Easton. "The halls are dark and dangerous, lighted only by transoms over the doors. The stairs are steep. There have been accidents on the stairs, and they are condemned."

Can't Remodel. "The worst of the situation is that the building is solidly built of brick. Even the partitions are brick, and to remodel it would mean practically tearing it down. We couldn't rearrange the partitions without destroying the buildings support."

"The cost would be out of all proportion to the advantage. In the first place we should have to remodel the heating system. The school now has either five or six furnaces of the oldest kind, and a steam plant."

Conditions of the school buildings occupied a large part of Monday's session. The following matters were referred to the grounds and buildings committee after discussion:

Plans for removing chimneys which obstruct the halls of the Jefferson school.

Consultation with the library authorities regarding arrangement of the new north side high school with regard to the library branch quarters.

New fire escape on the west side of the Lincoln school.

It was also announced that the new sewing room in the Lincoln school is nearly ready for occupancy, and that the Franklin school has been shingled during the summer.

President Luening reported on the faculty changes which were made public some time since. Thirteen new instructors have been engaged for the high school and eight for the grades. The board decided to make a tour of the schools some day next week not definitely set.

Janitors Raised. A petition signed by all of the janitors, and endorsed by President Luening, the salary of caretakers was raised $2.50 a month all around.

Interesting attendance figures were given to the board by Superintendent B. E. McCormick. The total enrollment for the first week of school was 4,154. This is considered as ranking well with last year, when the end of the first month saw attendance of 3,414. That the enrollment this year will equal or surpass this figure by the end of the

ABANDONMENT OR REPAIRS CHOICE FOR OLD SCHOOL

Cost of Repairs Would Be More Than Worth of the Building Says L. F. Easton

JANITORS GET A RAISE

Attendance Ranks with 1915 Enrollment and the Schools Are Healthy

Extensive repairs on the old high school building, or abandonment of the structure was the choice laid before the board of education at its first meeting of the season Monday evening. By order of the industrial commission, two of the rooms in the edifice at Eighth and Main streets have been closed, and iron fire escapes must be erected before they can be used. Other extensive repairs are needed.

The matter was referred to the buildings and grounds committee, with instructions to formulate a plan of action. The superintendent and president of the board were instructed to obtain temporary quarters for the pupils deprived of their school home by the condition of the building.

BULGARS' RIGHT SENT BACK UNDER ALLIED ATTACKS

First Pitched Battle Since the Start of Allies' Offensive in Balkans Is Fought

REPORT GENERAL ROUT

Unconfirmed Report Says Bulgarians Are Leaving Eastern Macedonia and Kavala Wood

BY ED L. KEEN
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

LONDON, Sept. 12.—The Bulgarian right wing has been rolled back under heavy Anglo-French attack in the first pitched battle since the allies began their offensive in the Balkans.

The French war office Tuesday announced the capture of Bulgarian trenches on a two mile front to a depth of two miles in the region north of Majadan. An official statement from Salonika announces the capture of Yenimah by the French and British.

Press dispatches from Athens left little doubt that the great northward drive of the allies from Salonika has begun. After thirty-six hours of heavy fighting the Bulgarians are retreating with the allies in pursuit, Athens reported.

One unconfirmed report declared that the Bulgarians are also retreating from eastern Macedonia and have evacuated the forest of Kavala.

Serbian, Albanian, French and British troops are now attacking the German Bulgarian front in Greece with Italian and Russian contingents ready to join in the offensive. The Bulgarians attempted to stem the Serbian advance southwest of Ostrovo lake by a counter attack, but were checked and thrown back, suffering severely, it was officially announced at Paris. While the Bulgarian wings are being pressed back, French artillery has opened a big artillery duel in the center around Lake Doiran, as if presaging a French advance up the Vardar.

The Bulgarian and German war offices thus far have had little to say about the new allied offensive. The German official statement reported heavy fighting along the Struma, but declared the Bulgarians have been successful.

Can't Remodel. "The worst of the situation is that the building is solidly built of brick. Even the partitions are brick, and to remodel it would mean practically tearing it down. We couldn't rearrange the partitions without destroying the buildings support."

CENTRAL POWERS KEEP WATCHFUL EYE ON ATHENS

Vienna Paper Warns That Accession of Venizelos Will Mean Greece Enters War with Allies

BULGARS DRIVEN BACK

Both British and Serbians Continue Drive on Bulgarians; French Now on the Ground

LONDON, Sept. 12.—It is generally understood that the resignation of Premier Zaimas has been accepted, although no official announcement has been made, said a Reuter dispatch from Athens Tuesday night.

ATHENS, Sept. 12.—Premier Zaimas has submitted the resignation of the Greek cabinet, it was officially announced Tuesday.

The prime minister said various incidents of an international character have prevented him from dealing satisfactorily with the external situation and for that reason he desires to be relieved of further responsibility. King Constantine is making every effort to persuade him to reconsider.

Greece Nearest War. LONDON, Sept. 12.—Greece moved nearer to war Tuesday with the beginning of the allied offensive in the Balkans.

Reports that Premier Zaimas has tendered the resignation of his cabinet were officially confirmed from Athens. Dispatches from the Greek capital said the capture of four villages by the British and the defeat of the Bulgarians on both wings have created a profound sensation.

The central powers are keeping a close eye on events at Athens and are awaiting the first hostile move. The Vienna Arbeiter Zeitung warned its readers that ex-Premier Venizelos, leader of the pro-ally party, probably will become Greek minister of war and that Greece will at once make ready to join the allies. Dispatches from Berlin said that the attitude of Greece is being discussed by the kaiser and the Bulgarian king and crown prince at the kaiser's headquarters.

Strong British forces apparently are engaged in the advance against the Bulgarian left wing. Official dispatches reported Tuesday that the Bulgarians stubbornly opposed the British advance, but were compelled to yield ground after suffering heavy losses in artillery and infantry attacks.

On the allies' left wing, the Serbians are following up the success won in Saturday's fighting and are now attacking the Bulgarians with great vigor.

A continuation of the present British and Serbian offensive is expected to put an immediate end to the German-Bulgarian invasion of Rumania.

French Join In. SALONIKA, Sept. 12.—French troops have joined the British and Serbians in the allied offensive in the Balkans, it was officially announced Tuesday. French and British troops have captured the town of Yenimah.

TYPOTHETAE AND FRANKLIN CLUBS TO DISCUSS PAPER FAMINE

ATLANTIC CITY, Sept. 12.—George H. Gardner of Cleveland will deliver an address on The Paper Situation before the convention of The Typothetae and Franklin Clubs of America which convened here Tuesday, which is expected to start the general discussion of a probe into the paper famine and other serious business problems of the printing and publishing business caused, or said to have been caused, by the war.

The association is the national body of the employing printers of the country. It is to be their 30th annual convention.

The print paper situation, recently investigated by the federal government and the subject of consideration at all gatherings of printers and publishers this year, probably will be concretely acted upon by the convention.

Papers in every part of the country have been compelled to reduce their size; printing prices, which never did provide any too good a margin for the printer anyhow, have been boosted perforce and may go higher. Good inks are as scarce as is good paper.

A report will be made tomorrow by Secretary J. A. Borden, of Chicago. "The Danger of Economic Policies as Pertaining to the Printer," was the topic discussed by A. E. Ommen of New York city at the morning session.

Fletcher Ford of Los Angeles will address the convention Thursday on "Printers' Credit Pro and Con." President Albert W. Finlay, of Boston, will be chief entertainer at the closing session Thursday evening.

If Too Fat Get More Fresh Air

BE MODERATE IN YOUR DIET AND REDUCE YOUR WEIGHT, TAKE OIL OF KOREIN.

Lack of fresh air it is said weakens the oxygen carrying power of the blood, the liver becomes sluggish, fat accumulates and the action of many of the vital organs are hindered thereby. The heart action becomes weak, work is an effort and the beauty of the figure is destroyed.

When you feel that you are getting too stout, take the matter in hand at once. Don't wait until your figure has become a joke and your health ruined through carrying around a burden of unsightly and unhealthy fat.

Spend as much time as you possibly can in the open air; breathe deeply, and get from City Book and Drug Store, 500 Main street, or Columbia Pharmacy, 123 South Fourth street, a box of oil of Korein capsules; take one after each meal and one before retiring at night.

Weigh yourself every few days and keep up the treatment until you are down to normal. Oil of Korein is absolutely harmless, is pleasant to take, helps the digestion and even a few days treatment has been reported to show a noticeable reduction in weight.

AMERICAN BANKERS TO TELL POOR FOLKS HOW TO SAVE MONEY

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Sept. 12.—When the American Bankers' association meets in this city two weeks hence, President Frank A. Vanderlip of the National City Bank of New York and other financial geniuses will discuss plans to teach Americans of moderate means to save their money.

A special committee of the association has been investigating this matter for more than a year and their report is said to contain some surprises for Mr. Average Citizen concerning his pennies, quarters, dimes and dollars.

The American people of the rank and file, for all their aspirations to live well, have grown quite frugal, though not stingy, it is said. Still there could be a great deal more money saved by the individual that would not take away from him any of the necessities and modest luxuries he now enjoys, it is claimed.

The business sessions will occupy the bankers September 28th and 29th.

SUGAR EXPORT RECORD SET

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.—More refined sugar was exported from the United States during the first seven months of 1916 than during the whole twenty-five year period from 1890 to 1914. The amount was more than one billion pounds, according to the foreign and domestic commerce bureau.

The value of the exports was $60,000,000.

The 246,000,000 pounds exported during July alone was more than the amount exported in 1911, 1912, 1913 and 1914. The rate of exportation set during the seven months' shipment of two billion pounds in 1916 is expected.

Importation of raw sugar is expected to total five billion pounds.

The Searchlight

Spun Glass Holds Heat in Pipes
Recent experiments prove that spun glass is of exceptional value as a packing material to retain heat in steam and hot water pipes. Rings of asbestos are placed around the pipes at intervals, fine threads of spun glass are wound loosely between them. A covering of asbestos board or canvas is placed over all and painted with oil paint. The chief advantage of this material is the fact that its non-conductivity is increased by the mirror-like surfaces of the glass, which constantly reflect heat. Another advantage is that it adds little to the weight of the pipes.

PARTNERS IN CITY MAKING

In the department of "Chamber of Commerce Notes" there appears comment upon the relationship which should exist between the Chamber and the city officials, and it is gratifying to observe that the officers of the Chamber have adopted a broad view of that relationship.

To assume that city officials have not at heart the duty of sound administration is most unjust. Citizens can not always agree upon matters of administration, but it is the aim of Mayor Bentley and his associates to find and be guided by the desires and best judgment of the majority. No administration can do more, and it is an obligation of citizenship to help with suggestions and co-operation, rather than sit back watching for flaws to scold about.

Now a Chamber of Commerce that attempted to dictate its city's government would get about as far as a city administration attempting to dominate the Chamber of Commerce, which is as it should be. But through the civic interest created within its bureaus the Chamber of Commerce can be of genuine assistance to city administration by way of assisting in the mayor's most difficult task—ascertainment of public sentiment. The chamber is widely representative of the citizens and lends activity to their best thought. If the chamber shall use this agency as a basis for friendly co-operation with the mayor and his associates, the results will be excellent. Mayor Bentley has breadth of view to appreciate such co-operation, nor is it likely that those who are charged with other city officers will be blind to the advantages of team work between the city's chosen governmental leaders and an organization representing the best judgment of unofficial citizens relative to all business and civic matters.

And so it is with keen pleasure that one reads the message of the new secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, conveying so exactly that conception of the proper relationship between the Chamber and the city government. It makes for understanding and community effort, and we look to see Mayor Bentley and other city officials among the faces most familiar about the new home of the Chamber of Commerce.

STICK TO THE BIG DOMESTIC ISSUE

Here is a neat little table showing appropriations by Congress for the fiscal years 1916 and 1917. You notice at once that the footing of the second column is larger than that of the first by something like five hundred million dollars. You see that increases in the two items Army and Navy account for about four hundred millions of it, and you console yourself with the thought that probably the country's exigencies require that much greater armament. But nearly every other item shows an increase too. There is a million here, three millions there, ten millions in another place.

As to some of these items, such as twenty millions for a nitrate plant and forty millions for rivers and harbors, you have heard enough specific criticism to raise at least a grave doubt. As to the remainder, you have only the general and melancholy fact that neither yourself nor anybody else on earth really knows how necessary or expedient they are or how much they might be reduced without impairing the efficiency of the government if the money were handled to the best possible advantage. Nobody in particular is really responsible for this list of items as it finally goes over to the Treasury and is paid out in veritable money. Alas, all, nobody has any definite idea as to how much preventable waste any or all of the items contain.

Both parties have spoken approvingly of a national budget system. Which one will promise a comprehensive, non-political, scientific overhauling of governments accounts?—Saturday Evening Post.

One passes the problem of necessity for the military and naval phase of the expenditures, for they are essentially bipartisan. But the other phases of financial excesses belong in Mr. Hughes' box of tricks. In the past republicans established the precedent of waste and extravagance, but perhaps the democrats have set a new pace. That Wilson permitted it in order to log-roll for measures he deemed vastly more important is beside the question and belongs to the shady realm of "practical politics". It is the weakest spot in the democratic administration and the strongest argument for the republicans. Nor is it a mere talking point, for it fits their candidate. The public might be skeptical of mere party declarations of practical economy made by the G. O. P., but from the man, Hughes, so peculiarly fitted for the work, so habitually and by training the economic engineer, the promise takes on reality.

The point that if Mr. Hughes and his associates will cleave to this fitting and important idea, abandon attacks upon a fairly successful foreign policy and eliminate criticism of ward dimensions, he will be advancing with his best foot forward, is worth reiteration. There are many republicans everywhere who regard certain utterances in relation to the government's foreign program as akin to treason. In times of great crises a decent president comes to so personify the republic that to assail him on international phases of administration is accepted as in effect attacking the nation.

PROBABLY SETTLES NOTHING AT ALL

Republicans contend that the Maine elections, having gone more than 8,000 republican, indicate a republican victory in November. Democrats reply that in 1892, when Maine went republican by 12,500, a figure somewhat in excess of the present G. O. P. victory, Grover Cleveland was elected. They add that the present republican margin of 12,000 is less than half the normal republican majority.

So far as Maine, and perhaps the North Atlantic states are concerned, the fact that national issues were in the ascendancy makes the issue national and decisive locally. However, an impartial view of the situation probably will find that the Maine election left the presidential election exactly where it was the day prior to the voting—extremely doubtful. However, the sentimental advantage is with the republicans.

THE TRIBUNE'S DAILY TRAVELETTE

(By Missab)

THE CAMPAIGN

The Campaign is the great plain surrounding the city of Rome, rolling gently down, like a quiet sea, over the bones of dead cities from the mountains to the Mediterranean. It is a low, desert level tufted with rusty grass and haloed by a mist of romance and malaria. It is one of the most historic and unhealthiest bits of country in the world. A slow, subtle beauty belongs to it, which has taken powerful hold of some, and which others never feel.

The Campaign is a favorite drive for Romans and visitors to Rome, and its popularity increases as it is reclaimed bit by bit from its desolation and grows correspondingly less likely to repay its admirers with a week in bed. Its only permanent inhabitants are occasional shepherds, on whom the fever that breathes from the ground has laid its unmistakable finger-print.

Besides—or after—a robust constitution, the Campaign demands for its proper appreciation a highly developed historic imagination. To one who can see below the surface, there is no more stirring sight than this dead volcanic plain. Burnt out and barren it may be today, but its ashes are the ashes of the forge where civilization was shaped. The Latin race was born on this plain, long before Rome became even a name. It is dotted with the ruins of the country villas of the old Roman aristocracy, built in the days when the Roman eagles shadowed the world, and Roman engineering had made the Campaign a healthy place to live. Its undulating surface is broken by the remains of old aqueducts. Under its dead surface lie the Catacombs of the early Christians. It is a stratified deposit of all history.

To some types of mind the knowledge that all this lies underfoot is as stimulating as old wine; to others the idea of delving into the subject deeply enough to understand the Campaign is as attractive as the malaria. But when the old plain is violet at twilight with the thin sun filtering through the mists, or golden at noonday, or silver with white mist at night, it is joy to the beholder whether he has ever studied ancient history or not.

The TRIBUNE'S Daily Short Story

"FAREWELL TO THEE"

BY EARL REED SILVERS

(Copyright, 1916, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate)

"I don't think that I can ever care for you in just that way, Dick." The girl spoke softly, and there was a certain wistfulness in her eyes. "You see, I'm different from most girls. Dad and I have lived together for so long that I shouldn't know what to do if I didn't have him to look out for."

"But you can still have him," Dick Garrett persisted. "He can live with us and you can look out for him all you want to."

"No, Dick!" Dorothy Hayden shook her head. "I think that I've given him so much love and care that I haven't any left for other people."

"But you have a right to marry. Surely, you believe in it, don't you?"

"It isn't a question of right or belief," she answered. "I just don't want to, Dick."

Music sounded from the ballroom of the Country Club. It was "Aloha Oe," the waltz of waltzes. The man rose.

"Are you sure you know your own mind, Dorothy?" he asked.

"Sure." Her eyes wavered before his searching glance, but her voice was firm.

Small lines appeared about Dick Garrett's lips, but he tried to smile.

"The orchestra is playing 'Aloha Oe,'" he said. "Do you mind dancing with me?"

"I should love to."

Together they made their way into the big ballroom. On a slightly raised platform in one corner, an orchestra was half concealed in a maze of spreading palms. Dream-like, the music floated across the floor. Dick and Dorothy danced silently, the girl's eyes half closed, her left hand resting with a hint of a caress, on her partner's arm. The weirdly sad music seemed like a living thing, so subtly did it fit in with the mood of the two dancers. But finally the strains died away, and Dick, stepping back, looked searchingly into the girl's eyes. In their depths he discovered a light which set his heart to beating wildly. Without a word, he led her to the shadowed terrace.

"Are you still sure?" he asked softly.

For a moment Dorothy hesitated. The charm of the music had not yet been lost, the swaying rhythm of the dance half intoxicated her. Her glance wandered to the clubhouse porch, lighted by the mellow glow of many lanterns. As she looked, a gray-haired man framed himself in the doorway, his thin face silhouetted against the brilliant background. The light died from her eyes.

"I'm sure, Dick," she answered. "As long as he lives, my father will always be first."

The deep lines played swiftly about the man's mouth. He spoke softly, but with a world of resolution in his voice.

"I'm not going to ask you again," he said slowly, "because I believe that you know your own mind. But I love you, have loved you ever since I met you five years ago. I had hoped—" His voice broke, and he shook his head half angrily at the display of emotion. "But I'm not going to say anything about that. Tomorrow I'm going to accept that position in Panama. A boat sails in the afternoon, and I'll be on it."

He paused, and the girl caught her breath sharply. "'Aloha Oe' means 'farewell to thee,' in English," he continued. "That dance was probably the last one we'll ever have together. But I'll always remember it, and whenever I hear the music again I'll think of this one night with you." He held out his hand. "So I guess it's goodbye."

For a long time after he had gone, Dorothy stared with unseeing eyes into the darkness surrounding the Country club. The music was wafted out of the open windows, but she did not move. From the direction of the veranda, gay laughter floated out to her, but she gave no heed.

She reviewed her friendship with Dick Garrett. It seemed only yesterday that he had moved to Westwood, a blond-haired, blue-eyed college boy. They had gone to the college dances together; had played tennis and golf through the long summer vacations; had grown up with each other until Dick had become more a brother than a friend. She remembered her little acts of kindness to her father, his consideration, his unflinching loyalty. Suddenly she realized that he meant more to her than any one else in the world.

A shadow fell across the porch and a figure stood before her. She looked up half hopefully. It was her father.

"Where's Dick?" he asked.

"He's gone." Her voice was dull. "He—he leaves for Panama tomorrow."

For a long two minutes the old man was silent.

"Why?" he questioned finally.

"Because I wouldn't marry him." She tried to speak bravely, but a sob caught in her throat.

"Don't you love him?"

"I thought I didn't, but I do. Oh, daddy, daddy!" Suddenly she buried her face in his shoulder and sobbed quietly. He waited until the sobbing had spent itself, and then he spoke softly.

"Would you like to go home?"

"Yes, any place where I can be by myself."

Her father smiled, a light of reminiscence in his eyes.

"You'll have to wait for ten minutes or so," he said. "I must see a man on business. But I'll be back just as soon as possible."

"I'll wait here for you."

The music began again, but this time it was a fox trot, appealingly alive. But Dorothy did not hear; she was thinking of other things. She realized vaguely that an automobile had drawn up before the club entrance. A man loomed out of the darkness and stood before her.

"Dorothy!" he said.

Her heart leaped wildly. She sprang to her feet.

"Dick!"

A strange mixture of wonder, unbelief and happiness was in her voice. The man smiled into her eyes.

"Your father phoned to me," he explained. "He said that you wanted me."

"Oh!" She seemed unable to find voice for the varied emotions which surged within her.

"Do you?" he persisted gently. She placed one hand on his arm timidly.

"Yes," she answered softly. "More than all the world."

The music had ceased, but suddenly it began again. Evidently some one had demanded a waltz for an encore, for the strains of "Aloha Oe" floated out to them.

"It is our dance," Dick said. "They are playing 'Farewell to Thee'."

Dorothy smiled up at him; a hint of tears bordered her eyes.

"The last time we heard it," she

Careless Use of Soap Spoils the Hair

Soap should be used very carefully, if you want to keep your hair looking its best. Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and ruins it.

The best thing for steady use is just ordinary mulified coconut oil (which is pure and greaseless), and is better than the most expensive soap or anything else you can use.

One or two teaspoonfuls will cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, which rinses out easily, removing every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft, and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get mulified coconut oil at any pharmacy, it's very cheap, and a few ounces will supply every member of the family for months.

NEWS NOTES—MIDLAND

Mary Brooks and Alan Fisher are married. This does not mean much to picture fans, but when it is explained that Mary Brooks is Anna Little of the Flying A and Alan Fisher is Alan Forrest, then interest is aroused.

The pretty marriage at Santa Barbara recently was the outcome of a romance extending over two years. Miss Little was given away by Richard Willis, her friend and business representative, while Rena Rogers (Mrs. Frank Borzage) and Rhea Mitchell made the necessary background and shed the usual happy tears on behalf of the bride. Frank Borzage handed Alan the ring at the proper moment.

TWELVE NEW GOWNS FOR ONLY ONE FILM

When Louise Glaum was cast for the difficult role of Leila Aradelle, around whose base career "The Wolf Woman" revolves, Miss Glaum set about the task of designing and building the various distinct gowns, each of which is displayed to advantage throughout the action of the play.

The gown which is, perhaps, most appropriate to the character she portrays is the "devil gown," so called because of its similarity to the robes worn by the generally accepted likeness of Mephisto. It is of a lustrous red silk, fitting snugly enough to accentuate the lines of the wearer's figure, and with a cape to match depending from the shoulders. A tightly worn head-dress of spangles, with a protruding feather, completes the creation. The whole materially aided Miss Glaum in illustrating the serpentine charms of the character.

Miss Fazenda was bumped on the head with an oar and stunned; Harry Looker was hit on the ear with a croquet ball and stunned; Wyland Track took a header from a bicycle and was done up in bandages for three days; and two others were nearly drowned for art's sake in making the new Keystone comedy, "The Feathered Nest."

Looking around for favorite fiction to film, the Success Films company, which has been very recently incorporated, picked on Boccaccio's "De-

We All Are

At the dental congress at Ashbury Park, Dr. J. P. Carmichael of Milwaukee apropos of a disappointment in dental legislation, said philosophically:

"Well, let us not despair. Let us remember the old maid.

"An old maid, you know, went into a decline.

"What's the matter with you?" her doctor asked.

"Oh, doctor," she sobbed, "I've been disappointed in love."

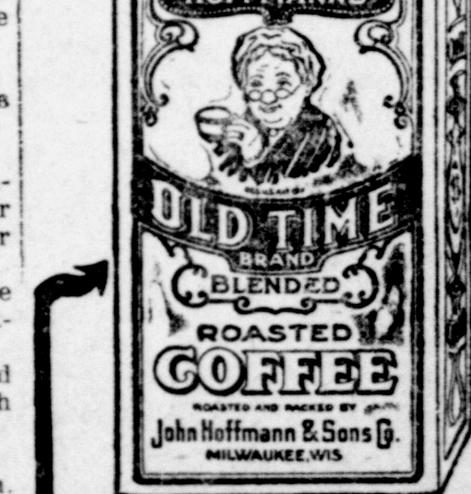

"Naturally," said the doctor. "It never does come up to expectations."

The Sherman Campaign

On the Sherman campaign to Atlanta it was camp talk that a Yankee was chasing a chicken in a barnyard on an ogra plantation, and a woman screamed at him. "You'll pay for that the day of judgment."

He shouted back over his shoulders, "If I can get credit that long, madam, I'll take the whole bunch."

PIONEER OF LANESBORO DIES AT 72

Ivor Johnson Dies Sunday Morning; Was Native of Norway and Worked for Railroad Thirty-five Years

LANESBORO, Minn.—(Special.)—Ivor Johnson, of this place, died last Sunday morning. In his death Lanesboro loses one of her best citizens, who has called this his home ever since the town was begun. Beginning his life here as a section foreman, he labored in that capacity for thirty-five years on the Milwaukee road. He was born in Stod, near Stenjar, Norway, Nov. 14th, 1845, and came to Fillmore county in 1866; being married in 1871 to Pauline Saevig. They were blessed with five children, one of whom died while yet very young and one other, a daughter, passing away three years ago. He is survived by three daughters, Mrs. F. W. Doring, of Burlington, Wis.; Mrs. T. P. Bye, of Petersburg, N. D.; and Miss Tillie Johnson, of Lanesboro. Two sisters, one in the mother country and one, Mrs. John Anderson, of Lanesboro, also survive. The daughters came in time to attend the funeral services, which were held from the Lanesboro Lutheran church, on last Wednesday, his pastor, Rev. P. J. Nestande and his brother-in-law, Rev. O. M. Saevig, of Rushford, both officiating at the services. Interment was made in the Lanesboro Lutheran cemetery.

Preston people and many in this town and surrounding community were greatly shocked to hear of the sudden death of John Garletz, of the former town, the old gentleman being stricken with heart failure while upon the streets of his home-town last week. He was a veteran of the Civil war and had called Preston his home for over forty years. He was past his seventy-sixth year and is survived by one son.

Peterson Goes Through
On his way to his home-town, Peterson, a day or so ago, "Teddy" Tolbertson passed through here and glimpsed many familiar faces from the car window. He has for some years past been a conductor on the Milwaukee's transcontinental line, his route being between Chicago and Seattle, on the "Columbian."

WILSON DECIDES TO INCREASE NUMBER OF PRE-ELECTION TALKS

BY ROBERT J. BENDER
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)
NEW YORK, Sept. 12.—President Wilson has decided to make a number of pre-election speeches in addition to those already scheduled—September 20 at St. Louis and September 24 at Baltimore.

The president reached this decision after a talk with Homer Cummings, vice chairman of the democratic national committee, on the train enroute here Monday. Cummings told the president he should accept a number of invitations extended him by organizations in different parts of the country.

Where the additional speeches will be made, will be left to the judgment of the national committee, but the president has asked that they be confined so far as possible to the east. His reason for this is that if he goes on an extended trip into the west, he will be compelled to deliver numerous platform speeches—all of a political nature—and he wishes to avoid this, believing that the president of the United States should not campaign for re-election.

NEW YORK PAPERS AGREED MOOSE IS BACK IN THE FOLD

NEW YORK, Sept. 12.—Democratic and republican papers of New York agreed Tuesday that the result of the Maine election indicates the progressive vote in that state has swung to the republicans. They disagree only on the significance of the election from a national standpoint.

The World, democratic, says: "Neither democrats nor republicans have much to brag about in the results of the Maine election. It was inevitable that Maine should go republican. The republican majority is anything but decisive. If Maine is a barometer of the national election, the national election is still on the knees of the gods."

Tribune, republican: "The early returns from Maine indicate a decisive republican victory. Any plurality on the state ticket exceeding 10,000 must be considered as reviving the old traditions of republican supremacy in Maine."

Sun, republican: "The returns that the republicans and former progressives came together in a wave that closed over the democratic hopes of a 'September victory.' Such analysis of the vote as could be made last night shows the republican party in Maine in a re-united yesterday smoothly and solidly."

The democrats have been asking what the republicans were going to do. The answer has come."

Times, democratic: "It is plain that Roosevelt carried most of the progressives with him into the republican camp. It appears probable, that more of the new voters supported the republican than the democratic candidates."

The vote in Maine does not decide presidential elections, and, save in landslide years, is no great indication of their decision. Such comfort as this election does give, however, is republican. It remains to be seen whether in other states the progressive will return as generally as they did in Maine, or whether, as in 1876, 1880, 1884, and 1908, Maine has merely shown that she was out of step with the nation."

ST. PAUL GIRLS CO-STARS IN FILM

It is very seldom that two girls, born and bred in the same city, who start out in different directions, both get on the stage, and a few years later find themselves starred in the same photoplay feature. Still, that is the very thing which happened in the case of Frances Nelson and June Elvidge, who, after spending a few years on the stage, both signed contracts with the World Film corporation.

After having severally starred in World Film productions, they are to be co-starred in "The Almighty Dollar," which is the feature coming to the Bijou theater on Wednesday only, this week, in which E. K. Lincoln has the leading male role. Both the Misses Nelson and Elvidge hail from St. Paul, Minn., and since learning that they were natives of the same city have been chumming together, and where one is now seen the other is always sure to be.

SYSTEM OF WATER ROUTES PLANNED TO OFFSET RAIL TIE-UP

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Sept. 12.—

The plan for a system of inland waterways to insure the transportation of freight and passengers in the eastern part of the United States in case of a general railroad strike will be considered by the annual convention of the Atlantic Deepwaterways convention that opened here Tuesday.

An inland waterways system connecting all navigable rivers, lakes and canals, delegates pointed out, would serve the dual purpose of rendezvous for the navy in time of war of a means of transportation during labor troubles.

Although Congressman J. Hampton Moore, president; Rear Admirals William S. Benson and A. W. Grant; Major Generals William M. Black and Tasker H. Bliss, and Brigadier General E. M. Weaver and others confined their remarks to plans for the Atlantic coast, other speakers later will urge similar plans for the gulf and Pacific coast states.

Atlantic coast towns and cities are here. The convention will last four days, during which it is expected, addresses will be delivered by United States senators and congressmen.

"UNWRITTEN LAW" HAS GREAT STAR

"The Unwritten Law" is a seven part photo-drama adapted from Edwin Milton Royle's stage success of the same title. In it the California Motion Picture corporation has achieved the masterpiece of its producing activities. The story is wholesome and big and develops through breathless suspense to one of the most thrilling climaxes ever attained in motion picture art.

If it were necessary to pick one outstanding feature from the many elements of greatness that this production embodies it would undoubtedly be the emotional power of Beatriz Michelena's acting. Miss Michelena's impersonation of Kate Wilson in this picture is her greatest achievement since forsaking opera for the screen. Every critic who has reviewed the film has declared her work a marvel in both power and finish. "Billboard" declares "Volumes would inadequately describe her wonderful portrayal of the woman," while publications as the New York Telegraph, New York Mail, Moving Picture World, Motion Picture News, Dramatic Mirror, Motography, New York Clipper, etc., have been equally enthusiastic in their words of commendation.

"The Unwritten Law" is to be shown for the first time in this city, at the Majestic theater Tuesday and Wednesday.

ONE IS KILLED WHEN GREEN MOTORMAN LOSES CONTROL OF THIS CAR

NEW YORK, Sept. 12.—Dashing wildly beyond the control of a green motorman, a Union railway car collided with two automobiles in the Bronx early Tuesday and one man was killed and seven seriously injured.

The car left the tracks and turned turtle and many were pinned beneath it. One of the automobiles struck was a large truck carrying laborers to their work. This truck in turn was hurled against a touring car, overturning it.

Five of those injured are in a critical condition. Many suffered minor injuries from flying glass and splinters of wood.

Comparatively little work can convince a man that he needs a rest.

NEW PHONE ADDS MORE SERVICE FACILITIES
A varload of cable finished unloading today for the La Crosse Telephone which was ordered last June and the installation of it will afford additional lines to the Mormon Coulee and State Road districts.

Two carloads of underground conduit were received during the summer and the average amount of underground construction was completed as usual.

An additional section of switchboard has been under process of installation for two weeks and will be completed this week which will enable the company to add 360 lines or approximately 1,000 telephones more and should be sufficient capacity for two years in advance.

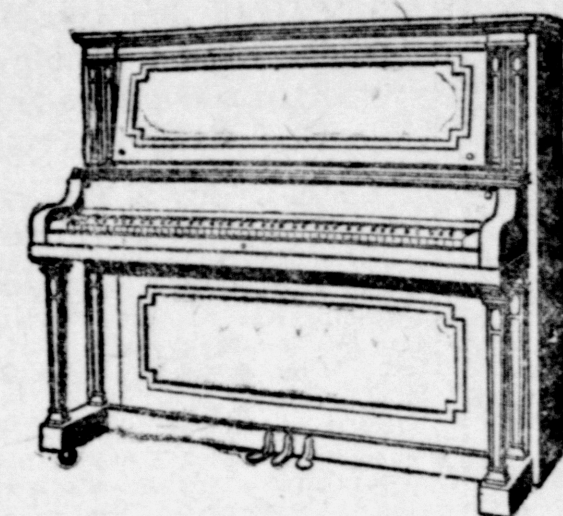

A construction crew of fifteen men has been employed for three months in setting new poles and stringing new copper wire from La Crosse to DeSoto for the La Crosse Inter-urban Telephone company which is also part of the New Phone System and first class service can now be had over the only copper toll line to points between here and De Soto.

A branch is also made at Victory for New Albin and near points in Iowa, across the river. The New Phone system also includes the ownership of exchanges at De Soto, Viola and West Salem and the connecting toll lines from La Crosse to those points.

"MANY HAPPY RETURNS"

At forty-six a normal man is in his prime. At that age he has passed the experimental stage, left uncertainty behind and attained that stability that comes with regular habits and fine co-ordination of mind and body. His place in the scheme of society is definitely fixed and his actions and reactions are not sufficiently violent to jar him from the groove of his orderly existence. Carl Prinz is forty-six today, and his friends are glad, not of his age, but of his youth.

Seven of his forty-six years Carl Prinz has spent as superintendent of the Linotype equipment of The TRIBUNE. In this organization he has become something more than an employee—he is an institution. He is the czar of his little realm—indefatigable and infallible. Perhaps school advantages were scant in his youth, but in his daily occupation of typing the world's affairs he has attained a liberal education and absorbed a philosophy both practical and interesting. Talking little and thinking much, he has developed a personality that renders his companionship a source of pleasure to those who enjoy his intimacy.

And so it is with a feeling of happy fellowship that the men and women who make up The TRIBUNE organization congratulate Carl Prinz upon this birthday that finds him on the job, "nose down", neither a year nor a day older because of the landmark that measures time but can not measure the young hearts of men.

DEMANDS ON CHINA OF GOOD CHARACTER JAPAN DECLARES

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.—The Japanese foreign office has officially notified this government that nothing in the recent demands of Japan on China infringed the sovereignty of that country or impaired the Root-Takahira agreement, the state department announced.

This statement was made in answer to an inquiry of the state department made September 6. American Ambassador Guthrie was instructed to ask for a statement and to inform the foreign office that the first reports of the Japanese demands had "greatly disturbed the American government which trusted it was not true."

The Japanese minister for foreign affairs in his reply said that some of the items of the demands reported in the press were "approximately true," but that others were "colored by a mixture of untruth and exaggeration."

The official description of the trouble in Mongolia and the demands resulting therefrom given by the state department was as follows:

The clash at Cheng Chiatung, being between military forces, was of a serious character and therefore in order to prevent a recurrence of such trouble Japan was requesting, in addition to proper apologies and monetary compensation that Japanese officers should be reappointed as instructors in the cadet school (probably at Mukden) and suggesting that the Chinese government should ask appointment of Japanese advisors to be stationed with Chinese garrisons in South Manchuria and eastern Mongolia and that as an extension of its extra territorial rights, the Japanese government should be permitted to station Japanese policemen in towns where there are large Japanese settlements.

CHARGES OF ILLEGAL VOTING AGAINST STUDENTS DISMISSED

MADISON, Wis., Sept. 12.—Judge A. C. Hoppman on Tuesday dismissed the criminal charges of illegal voting brought by Ralph Jackman, as a complaining witness, against E. A. Sipp, Watertown; Carter Schonberg, Milwaukee; W. L. Gittings, Racine, and Walter Isenberg, Baraboo, all students at the university, in June, 1915. Dismissal was made upon recommendation of District Attorney Southoff, who told the court the civil cases now before the supreme court would set a precedent in all matters of student voting that would probably settle this perennial controversy.

EDUCATION AND AID TO MEXICAN FARMERS PLAN

Joint Commission Says Mexican People Need Learning and That Land Tillers Need Example

By CARL D. GROAT

(United Press Staff Correspondent)
NEW LONDON, Conn., Sept. 12.—American farmers to till Mexican soil and American teachers to train Mexican minds—that was a plan before the American-Mexican peace commission Tuesday.

Such a program was intended to be part of Mexico's contemplated regeneration. The commission agreed that it would be feasible.

As formulated thus far, the scheme is only to have such numbers of Americans as will set an example for the Mexicans and there is every intention to avoid anything that smacks of American interference or control.

The Mexicans presented data Tuesday, supplementing Monday's on railroad, to show that there is an honest effort to make the rich country below the Rio Grande blossom anew after six years of civil strife. They told the American commissioners that while crops in some parts of Mexico have suffered from lack of labor, other portions show a remarkable productivity.

These essential underlying economic problems will be thoroughly probed before the question of withdrawing American troops is determined.

Secretary of the Interior Lane and his conferees hoped to be able to report to the president within the next few days a definite plan on contemplated withdrawal of American forces from Mexico and reconstruction of the border patrol with fewer men than at present.

PLAYS CUPID TO CLOSE KOREAN-JAPANESE AMALGAMATION

TOKIO, Sept. 12.—Another step in the plan of the Japanese government to bring the amalgamation of the people of Japan and Korea was announced today. Prince Li, heir of the former emperor of Korea will soon marry a Japanese princess of the blood. The emperor already has sanctioned the match and the date for the wedding will be announced in a few months.

The match, which will be largely of a political nature, was arranged by Marshal Count Terauchi, governor general of Korea, who came to Tokio a few months ago in the role of cupid. After the marriage the young prince, who is now serving in the Imperial army, will reside in Tokio, with a villa in Seoul.

The former emperor of Korea also may move to Tokio to spend his declining years.

The heir apparent has been educated in Japanese schools and has adopted Japanese customs and attire. He is said to be handsome.

ESCHWEILER TAKES OATH OF OFFICE AS SUPREME JUDGE

MADISON, Wis., Sept. 12.—Justice Eschweiler, Milwaukee, took the oath of office as a member of the supreme court Tuesday and sat with the court for the first time. Memorials to the memory of the late Judge George C. Noyes, Milwaukee, were read by Frank M. Hoyt, Milwaukee, on behalf of the bar, and by Chief Justice Winslow on behalf of the court.

An alternative writ of mandamus was granted John G. Kleist, Milwaukee, who is asking the court to declare him the lawfully elected judge of the circuit court over which Justice Eschweiler has formerly presided. Mr. Kleist claims the action of the legislature in shortening the length of the term of this court from six to five years after election of the judge to be unconstitutional and as his name was on the ballot at the end of the six year term he is the duly elected judge. With the granting of the writ, the secretary of state will file briefs setting forth why he will not issue Mr. Kleist a certificate of election and the case will be heard in October.

The court dismissed appeals in the following cases:
Lamere against Shaw; Ratsch against Kessler; Newburg against Chicago and Northwestern railroad, and Milwaukee Light, Heat and Traction company against Emilie Christians.

No decisions were handed down.

MAJESTIC ORGAN SPLENDID AID IN INTERPRETATION

The great pipe organ which B. F. Gearhart of the W. W. Kimball company has just finished installing in the Majestic theater after five weeks of effort, is the largest pipe organ now in use in theaters, although a Detroit theater is having one of still larger dimensions built.

Perhaps the most interesting thing about this immense organ is the fact that Miss Nelda Graham, organist, has been compelled to have made a special pair of shoes with abnormally large heels, in order to play the bass pedals.

The organ was designed especially for the Majestic. It is what is known as a three-manual electric, with chimes, xylophone and vox humana attachments. If, some day, you hear an excellent imitation of a rich voice singing, you may find that it emanates from the pipes of the vox humana.

The organ has thirty-six stops and is divided into two sections, one on each side of the theater, with the keyboard in the center. It is rich in tone, and fills the place with melody that may be soft as the voice of the lute, or rise to a volume of terrific power. It is splendidly adapted to "playing" the pictures, for no instrument better expresses the range of human emotions than a pipe organ of proper tone and power.

HINEMAN LEADS IN TOMAH'S RECOUNT

TOMAH, Wis., Sept. 12.—The recount for assemblyman, republican, instituted by W. B. Naylor, was terminated Tuesday without changing the results. BOSTON ARTISTS' EXHIBIT OPENS AT THE TEMPLE

Dudley Crafts Watson Will Give Gallery Talk to the Members Friday Afternoon

The Boston Guild of Artists' traveling art exhibit, one of the largest groups of paintings and statuary visiting American cities, was opened to the public at the Masonic temple at 1 o'clock on Tuesday afternoon.

The exhibit is the largest which has ever been seen in La Crosse. It is being shown under the auspices of the Art Association of La Crosse. The hours during which the exhibit may be seen will be from 1 until 6 o'clock in the afternoon. It will be open to the public on Sunday evening until 9 o'clock.

Dudley Crafts Watson, director of the Milwaukee Art association, and well known in La Crosse, will give a gallery talk at the Masonic temple at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon. The talk will be open only to members of the Art association. Anyone desiring may purchase a membership.

The original plan of dividing the exhibit between the Masonic temple and the public library was abandoned on Tuesday when it was found that the entire group of paintings and statuary could be shown in the former place.

The exhibit consists of forty-five paintings, fifteen miniatures and fifteen pieces of statuary.

Further announcements concerning the art exhibit will be made from time to time.

HELEN BLAIR IS BACK AGAIN ON THE UPPER RIVER

Well Known Steamboat Passes La Crosse for the First Time in the Last Decade

Crowded with passengers, including a host of Mississippi valley newspaper representatives, and an unusual cargo of freight, the steamer Helen Blair of the Northern Steamboat company docked for the first time in ten years at the local levee Monday.

The big packet Morning Star was not used in the last round trip to St. Paul by Captain Walter Blair because of the declining business with the late season and the Helen Blair, a steamer not half as large as the big packet was put into the service. Peculiarly enough the freight handled on this trip was the largest had all summer by Captain Blair on the Davenport-St. Paul service.

The Morning Star is tied up at Davenport and is being put in shape for the autumn cruise to New Orleans. Only Captain Blair and Pilot W. L. Hunter from the Morning Star made the trip on the Helen Blair.

The newspapers that were represented on this trip were: The Aberdeen Dakota Daily American, Coal Valley Times of Clinton, Ia.; De Witt Observer; Iowa City Citizen; Journal-Chronicle, Owatonna; Rockford Daily Republican; Record, Lewiston Ill.; DeKalb Independent; Rock Island Morning Star; Bulletin, Freeport, Ill.; and the Sun Republic, Dodgeville, Wis.

The steamer was several hours behind its schedule. The Northern Steamboat company will close its St. Paul service this week. The Helen Blair will pass down the river Thursday morning.

month is considered probable. The enrollment by districts was:

First district, Washington school, 300; Second, Washburn and Longfellow schools, 419; Third, Lincoln and Hogan schools, 630; Fifth, Jefferson school, 345; Sixth, Hamilton and Webster schools, 772; Seventh, Franklin, Logan and North Side Branch schools, 785; High school, 903. The schools were declared to be in excellent condition as regards health.

A report of the summer school showed that 1,369 took up work, as compared with 1,324 in 1915. Of these 750 were promoted. Twelve graduated from the high school by virtue of summer school work, and 25 were enabled to pass from the grades into high school work in whole or in part.

Plan Meetings

A plan of general teachers meeting in conjunction with the parents of pupils was outlined by Superintendent McCormick. A dozen of such meetings are contemplated, with occasional speakers from outside of the city for discussions of live educational topics. The board also endorsed a plan to send principals on trips of inspection to various well-known schools in search of new and efficient methods.

GRATIFICATION AND SOLACE ALIKE IN MAINE ELECTION

NEW YORK, Sept. 12.—Republicans are confident and gratified, and democrats are encouraged and satisfied with the results of the Maine elections on Monday, according to statements of the leaders of both parties Tuesday.

While the republicans claimed the elections indicate a complete reunion of the republican and progressive parties the democrats maintained that later figures will show that a large per centage of the progressives voted the democratic ticket.

Chairman Wilcox of the republican national committee in commenting on the elections said: "I regard the Maine result as an indication of the certainty of election of Hughes and Fairbanks in November. The election has proven we are a reunited party. That means success in the campaign. The administration turned loose its cabinet members and best speakers in Maine and made a fight for the support of the administration and this vote is and will be determined by the people of the country as Maine's verdict on the administration. I was with Mr. Hughes for an hour last night and he feels very much gratified over the results in Maine."

Chairman McCormick of the democratic national committee smiled and told the newspapermen he had "no sad song to sing." McCormick said: "A plurality of approximately 10,000 in comparison with the republican pluralities in Maine in past years, indicates that this is a democratic year and that President Wilson will be re-elected. I think that this is particularly significant when it is realized that President Wilson is stronger by far than the local ticket in Maine, according to advice which come to me."

"I most certainly do not concede a general return of progressives to the republican party. I have not yet time to analyze all of the figures but reports tell me that the democratic party got a goodly percentage of the progressive votes and I am positive that we will get at least 25 per cent of the progressives in the presidential elections."

"You must remember this was a local election. President Wilson's name was not on the ballot, and I am sure that if it had been the democratic party would have polled 10,000 more votes."

publican, won from Kenneth C. W. Sills with 12,000 to spare.

The four republican congressional nominees were elected with votes to spare, except in the Second district, where Daniel J. McGillicuddy, democrat, whose re-election had been practically conceded by the republicans, was turned out by a bare 528 votes.

"If the republicans don't get a majority of 15,000, Wilson is upheld."

Maine democrats were pointing Tuesday to the fact that they have materially reduced the usual Maine republican majority on national issues and to the figures for 1892 when a republican plurality of 12,500 in September did not "point the way" to election of Grover Cleveland in November.

The Summary

Summarized from the latest figures obtainable from the Maine vote was as follows:

L. A. Pierce, democrat, 11,013.

Hughes Gratified

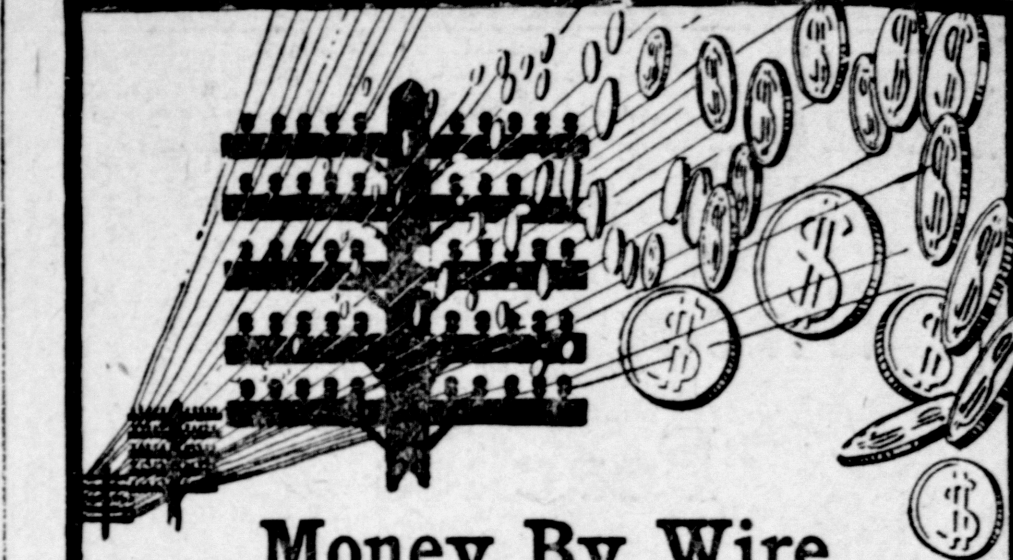

LYRACUSE, N. Y., Sept. 12.—"We don't see how we can lose. It is very gratifying was the comment of Republican Candidate Hughes upon returns from the Maine election received here before he left for Plattsburgh Monday night."

Diverse Interpretation

NEW YORK, Sept. 12.—Maine election results are given a diverse interpretation by republican and democratic leaders.

Chairman Wilcox of the republican national committee, said: "This means a reunited party, that the progressives have returned to the party and that the election of Mr. Hughes in November is assured."

New fall fashions will burst upon La Crosse in all the stores on the same day—Wednesday, September 20—according to plans laid by a committee of the merchants bureau of the Chamber of Commerce at a meeting in the chamber's offices Monday evening. All of the downtown merchants will be enlisted in the movement for the co-operative fall opening. It is the first united effort of the merchants bureau since its organization.

Harry Newburg is chairman of the committee in charge of the campaign. An aggressive publicity series is planned, and all of the merchants will be requested to "stretch themselves" in decorating their stores for the big fashion event.

The committee is at work today calling upon all members of the bureau to outline plans for the event. The fall opening is to cover the three days of September 20, 21 and 22.

The committee consists of E. J. Olson, A. E. Anderberg, William Helbach and William Orton, beside the chairman.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Sept. 12.—At Monday's meeting of the boxing commission George Duffy was again given a referee's license for the year.

INDIANA DUNES MAY BECOME U. S. PARK

Stephen Mather.

Stephen Mather is special assistant to the secretary of the interior and in charge of the national park system. He will make the preliminary decision as to whether the dunes along Lake Michigan in Indiana shall be turned into a national park. Should he recommend such a plan, congress would probably take favorable action.

SOX BEAT BROWNS WHEN FABOR GIVES BUT FIVE BINGLES

Collins Robs Sisler of Homer by Great Play; Detroiters Land on the Indians

CHICAGO, Sept. 12.—Urban Fabor held St. Louis to five scattered hits on Monday, while Chicago bunched hits off Koob, Groom and Hamilton, and won the second game of the series from the visitors, 5 to 2.

The two runs made by Jones' men were started as a result of errors by Eddie Collins.

The feature of the game was a running catch by John Collins, in the sixth inning, when he robbed Sisler of what looked like a triple or homer when two of the Browns were on the paths. A lightning double play by Terry, E. Collins and Ness then retired the side. The score:

WATCHING THE SCOREBOARD

Monday's Hero

Eppa Jephtha Rixey. Pitching for the Phillies, Rixey stood tall and unconcerned as the Giants patted him for five safe blows and a half dozen runs in the fourth inning.

Benny Kauff, the violet of the Giants, accumulated a perfect batting average for the day by the banging out a double and a home run.

Eddie Collins strayed into the error column twice and allowed the Browns to get a pair of tallies but his three hits helped the White Sox run-getting.

The Indians took an awful beating at the hands of the Tigers, getting one run to Detroit gang's nine.

Heilman, substituting at first base for the Tigers, cracked out three singles, a triple and a double.

Buck Wheat and the rest of the Dodgers bit the dust in Boston, the Braves coming to life behind Pat Ragan. It was Buck's twenty-third consecutive game in which he has hit safely at least once.

Dutch Leonard did not pitch such an awful good game in Washington but it was good enough to beat the Senators and hold the Red Sox in first place.

The state league club at Binghamton, N. Y., whipped the Pirates although the latter found the state league pitchers for fifteen hits.

TEAMS OFF ON HOME STRETCH FOR HONORS ON MAJOR DIAMONDS

BY H. C. HAMILTON
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

NEW YORK, Sept. 12.—The Brooklyn National league was at home Tuesday to begin a drive to the pennant. The Dodgers hold the lead in their circuit by a game and a half.

Philadelphia, in second place, also is at home, ready to fight to oust the leaders.

The Pirates will tackle the Dodgers in the Brooklyn stronghold this afternoon and the Phillies will tackle the Cardinals. Boston will face the Cubs in a pair of encounters in Boston.

Brooklyn returned home with an even split on its journey around the circuit. The Dodgers played twenty-eight games and won fourteen. Now they're ready for the long stretch to the finish. Their schedule calls for seventeen more regular games and six postponed games.

Every one of the remaining contests will be played at Ebbets field, so the Dodgers, a game and a half to the good, must be considered strong, as world's series possibilities.

Dodger Cripples Healed

Brooklyn left home on its last with Daubert and Pfeffer, two of the most dependable members of the club, on the ailing list. In addition, McCarty, a catcher, was playing first base. They returned home with Daubert and Pfeffer ready to go the route and with a new utility man in Fred Merkle, former Giant first baseman.

Phils in Bad Shape

The Phillies are not so well off. Bill Killifer has turned up crippled, as was the case a year ago when his services meant so much to the Phillies. He injured his hand last Saturday in the double header with the Giants. In addition none of Pat Moran's pitchers has any ability to win since the series with the Giants was started. Even the great Alexander was given a drubbing in New York.

Aside from the two leading clubs, recent events appear to have eliminated all other clubs from serious opposition. Boston, badly crippled by the loss of Evers and Maranville, seems to have hit the chutes after making a game fight.

A. L. Race Still Tied Up

The Red Sox, Tigers and White Sox

SPORT DOPE

After a season of climbing up and falling back in the American league standing, the Detroit Tigers are very much in the pennant hunt at the present time.

None of the half-dozen pennant contenders in the American league race is putting up a stronger game than the Jennings outfit, and none appears to have a better chance to cop the flag.

With the marvelous Ty Cobb display old-time form, the entire Tiger crew are up on their toes and going after everything in sight.

The Detroit club is one of the pioneers of the American league, having been a member since the circuit was formed in 1900.

The Tigers' great fight last season, when they finished only 20 points behind the champion Red Sox, shows that Hughey's boys carry the punch and will bear watching.

Three years in succession the Tigers took part in world's series games, but on each occasion they failed to land. However, the team holds the distinction of being the only one in the league to win three pennants in a row.

During the sixteen years Detroit has been in the American league its team has never ended a season in last place. In fact, the cellar has never been occupied by the Tigers for any great length of time during any playing season.

American league records show that the Tigers have finished eight times in the first division and an equal number of times in the second division.

It looks now as if Manager Jennings guessed right when he grabbed "Black" Spencer. The old St. Louis backstop is doing grand work for the Tigers after his absence of several years from the big show.

The veteran Sam Crawford has taken part in the fray regularly of

ISLE OF PINES
WOULD GET UNDER
UNCLE SAM'S WING

Pastor Here from West Indies
Says United States Hasn't Played Fair with Island

BEATS DANISH ISLANDS

Settled by Americans Who Thought It Belonged to Their Native Country

The United States ought definitely to assert its sovereignty over the Isle of Pines, in the belief of Rev. William H. Decker, Episcopal clergyman from that West Indian island, who is serving Christ church parish during the absence of Rev. William Everett Johnson.

"I find a great many people in this part of the state who are interested in the Isle of Pines as land-owners or who have friends there," Father Decker told The Tribune Saturday. "People ask all sorts of questions about the island."

"The Isle of Pines is located ninety miles almost directly south of Havana, Cuba. It is about 35 by 45 miles in extent. It lies just inside the tropics."

No Man's Land
"It is not United States territory, neither is it Cuban. By the Platt amendment to the treaty between the United States and Cuba, it was left to Cuba to govern. This was, to speak mildly, a great mistake. After the Spanish-American war it was regarded as United States territory, and was placed on the map as a United States possession by the McKinley administration, but under the Roosevelt administration it was placed in its present anomalous condition. Just why such a far sighted statesman as President Roosevelt should have consented to such an arrangement when such a valuable island was actually in our hands is hard to understand."

from the United States under the presumption that they were to live under the stars and stripes; in fact, they own ninety-eight per cent of the island, and it was little short of treachery to abandon them as done. It is not too late, however, for if our senate will take the matter up as it should do, the mistake could be easily remedied. As American citizens, we prefer to live on American soil, but people are bound to remain where their interests lie. Thousands of acres have been developed and millions of dollars have been invested in large and small holdings.

"We grow many things that are grown in the north and practically everything that is grown in the tropics. Our staple products are oranges, grape fruit, pineapples, peppers, egg plant, limes, lemons and lumber."

"The Isle of Pines is constantly growing in importance as a winter resort. We have several large hotels that are at the same time inexpensive and excellent. The mineral springs are unexcelled."

Of Strategic Value
"Just why our government is so anxious to pay $25,000,000 for the Danish West Indies, which are little more than coral reefs, and neglect the Isle of Pines is beyond our comprehension. We approve the purchase of the Danish West Indies but that does not alleviate our condition. As to a coaling station, a naval station, or government sanitarium, the Isle of Pines is all that could be desired. It commands the Yucatan channel which is not negligible in the protection of the Panama canal. We do not object to the solicitude of our government for islands far more distant and of less value, but we do most earnestly protest against the neglect it has shown towards the Isle of Pines, which is owned almost entirely by Americans, and is being developed by Americans."

58.80 per cent waste, while the edible portion is 18.2 per cent protein, 60.8 per cent fat, 13.7 per cent sugar and starch and a small amount of fiber and mineral. Compare this with beefsteak which is 65 per cent water, 19.8 per cent protein and 13.6 per cent fat and you can see that even when you buy them by weight with the shell on, you are getting a good food value out of nuts.

It is true that nuts are not as digestible as meat or grain, but if eaten together with other foods, especially with fruits and vegetables, are easily assimilated by most persons. The chief difficulty in popularizing their use is that most persons have a wrong idea of their place in the dietary. In this country nuts are generally eaten at the end of a heavy meal, or else they are taken as a confection between meals. They are too substantial a food for either of these uses. They should be prepared in salads, made into pastes or meals, cooked into cakes, ground and eaten on bread, or served as a relish pickled or preserved in syrup. The possibilities of the nut as a food are shown by the fact that in Tuscany the chestnut sometimes forms the greater part of the peasants' food for a year. It is boiled both in the hull and out of it, ground into meal and baked, or roasted. With the exception of almond paste, which is manufactured in this country and used largely in the making of macaroons, and the peanut butter which is now produced in ton lots, prepared nuts are little known in the United States. The correct use of nuts in general, however, is rapidly growing.

The pecan is about the only indigenous American nut that has been extensively cultivated, although the members of the Northern Nut Growers' association are studying the black walnut, the shagbark hickory, the butternut and the hazel nut with a view to promoting their cultivation. The common black walnut is an especially good example of a valuable tree badly neglected. Throughout the north and middle Atlantic states, and well inland, it grows with the greatest ease and bears heavy crops of nuts. The tree itself is also of the greatest value and of fairly rapid growth for a hardwood. An orchard of black walnut seedlings would begin to bear nuts in ten or twelve years, and in time would become a very valuable bit of timber. There are few better trees to plant; yet they are seldom planted.

The black walnut itself is finely flavored, but the shell is very thick, and often after the nut is cracked open, it is still almost impossible to extract the kernel. In this regard, however, the nuts from different trees vary greatly. The men who are trying to develop the black walnut as an orchard tree seek the wild trees that bear good, thin shelled fruit, and graft cuttings from them, so as to propagate the valuable seed. In this way, by a system of selective grafting, a thin shelled black walnut may be produced in the course of time, just as the famous "paper shelled" pecan has been developed in the south.

There is an abundance and variety of Atlantic states and the Allegheny mountains, and most of the central states have a share of native nut trees. In the south besides the pecan, there are the hickory, chinapin, beech, chestnut and butternut. Farther north are found the larger and better shagbark hickory and the hazel nut. The prairie states have practically no native nuts. In the southwest, there is a single nut, little known, but of excellent flavor. It is locally called the Pinon, and is the seed from the cone of a species of dwarf pine that grows in the foothills of the Rockies and on some of the lower and more arid mountain slopes. This nut is about the size of a bean, and perhaps the sweetest and best flavored to be found in this country. There are great tracts of waste land upon which it grows, but unfortunately for its place in the market a large crop is produced only about once in seven years, so that it is impossible to secure a steady supply. During the years when it is abundant, it is gathered in great quantities by the Indian and Mexicans, who often obtain their supplies by robbing the nest of the packrat, which stores the nut by the bushel for winter use.

About the only place in the United States where the pinon may be purchased, outside the far southwest, is on the East side in New York. A similar pine nut is produced in Southern Europe, and many of the foreigners living in New York's great slum find the pinon an excellent substitute. So a good many hundred thousand pounds are sent every good year from Albuquerque and Las Vegas to be sold by push cart men on Hester street and Avenue A.

Aside from this little industry, the business of gathering wild nuts does not amount to much. About 750,000 pounds were reported by the past census as the amount of wild nuts produced in this country. The quantity has undoubtedly increased in the last few years. Then, too, the census takers probably did not account for all of the nuts which were gathered and stored in garrets not only for winter use, but for the pleasure of a tramp in the autumn woods in search of the wild fruit.

There are few towns east of the Mississippi where a really valuable supply of nuts may not be had for the picking—and the outing is usually worth as much as the nuts. If you want to get your share of them, however, you should go out immediately after the first heavy frost, which breaks the burs and matures the kernels. Delay your trip a week or so, and the squirrels and birds will have gathered the crop. Nuts that are to be kept for a time should be stored in a dry place having a uniform temperature.

The only class in this country that has made a wide use of nuts is the cull of the vegetarians. These herbivorous persons claim that nuts are an excellent substitute for meat, and they have undoubtedly done much to promote their culture, and their proper preparation. Some very strict vegetarians even go so far as to prepare a milk by steeping coconut pulp in hot water, which they prefer to the dairy product.

The use of nuts as a substitute for anything else, however, or as the main element in one's diet, is no more to be recommended than their use purely as a confection. Eaten in small quantities with other foods, they are a valuable addition to your bill-of-fare.

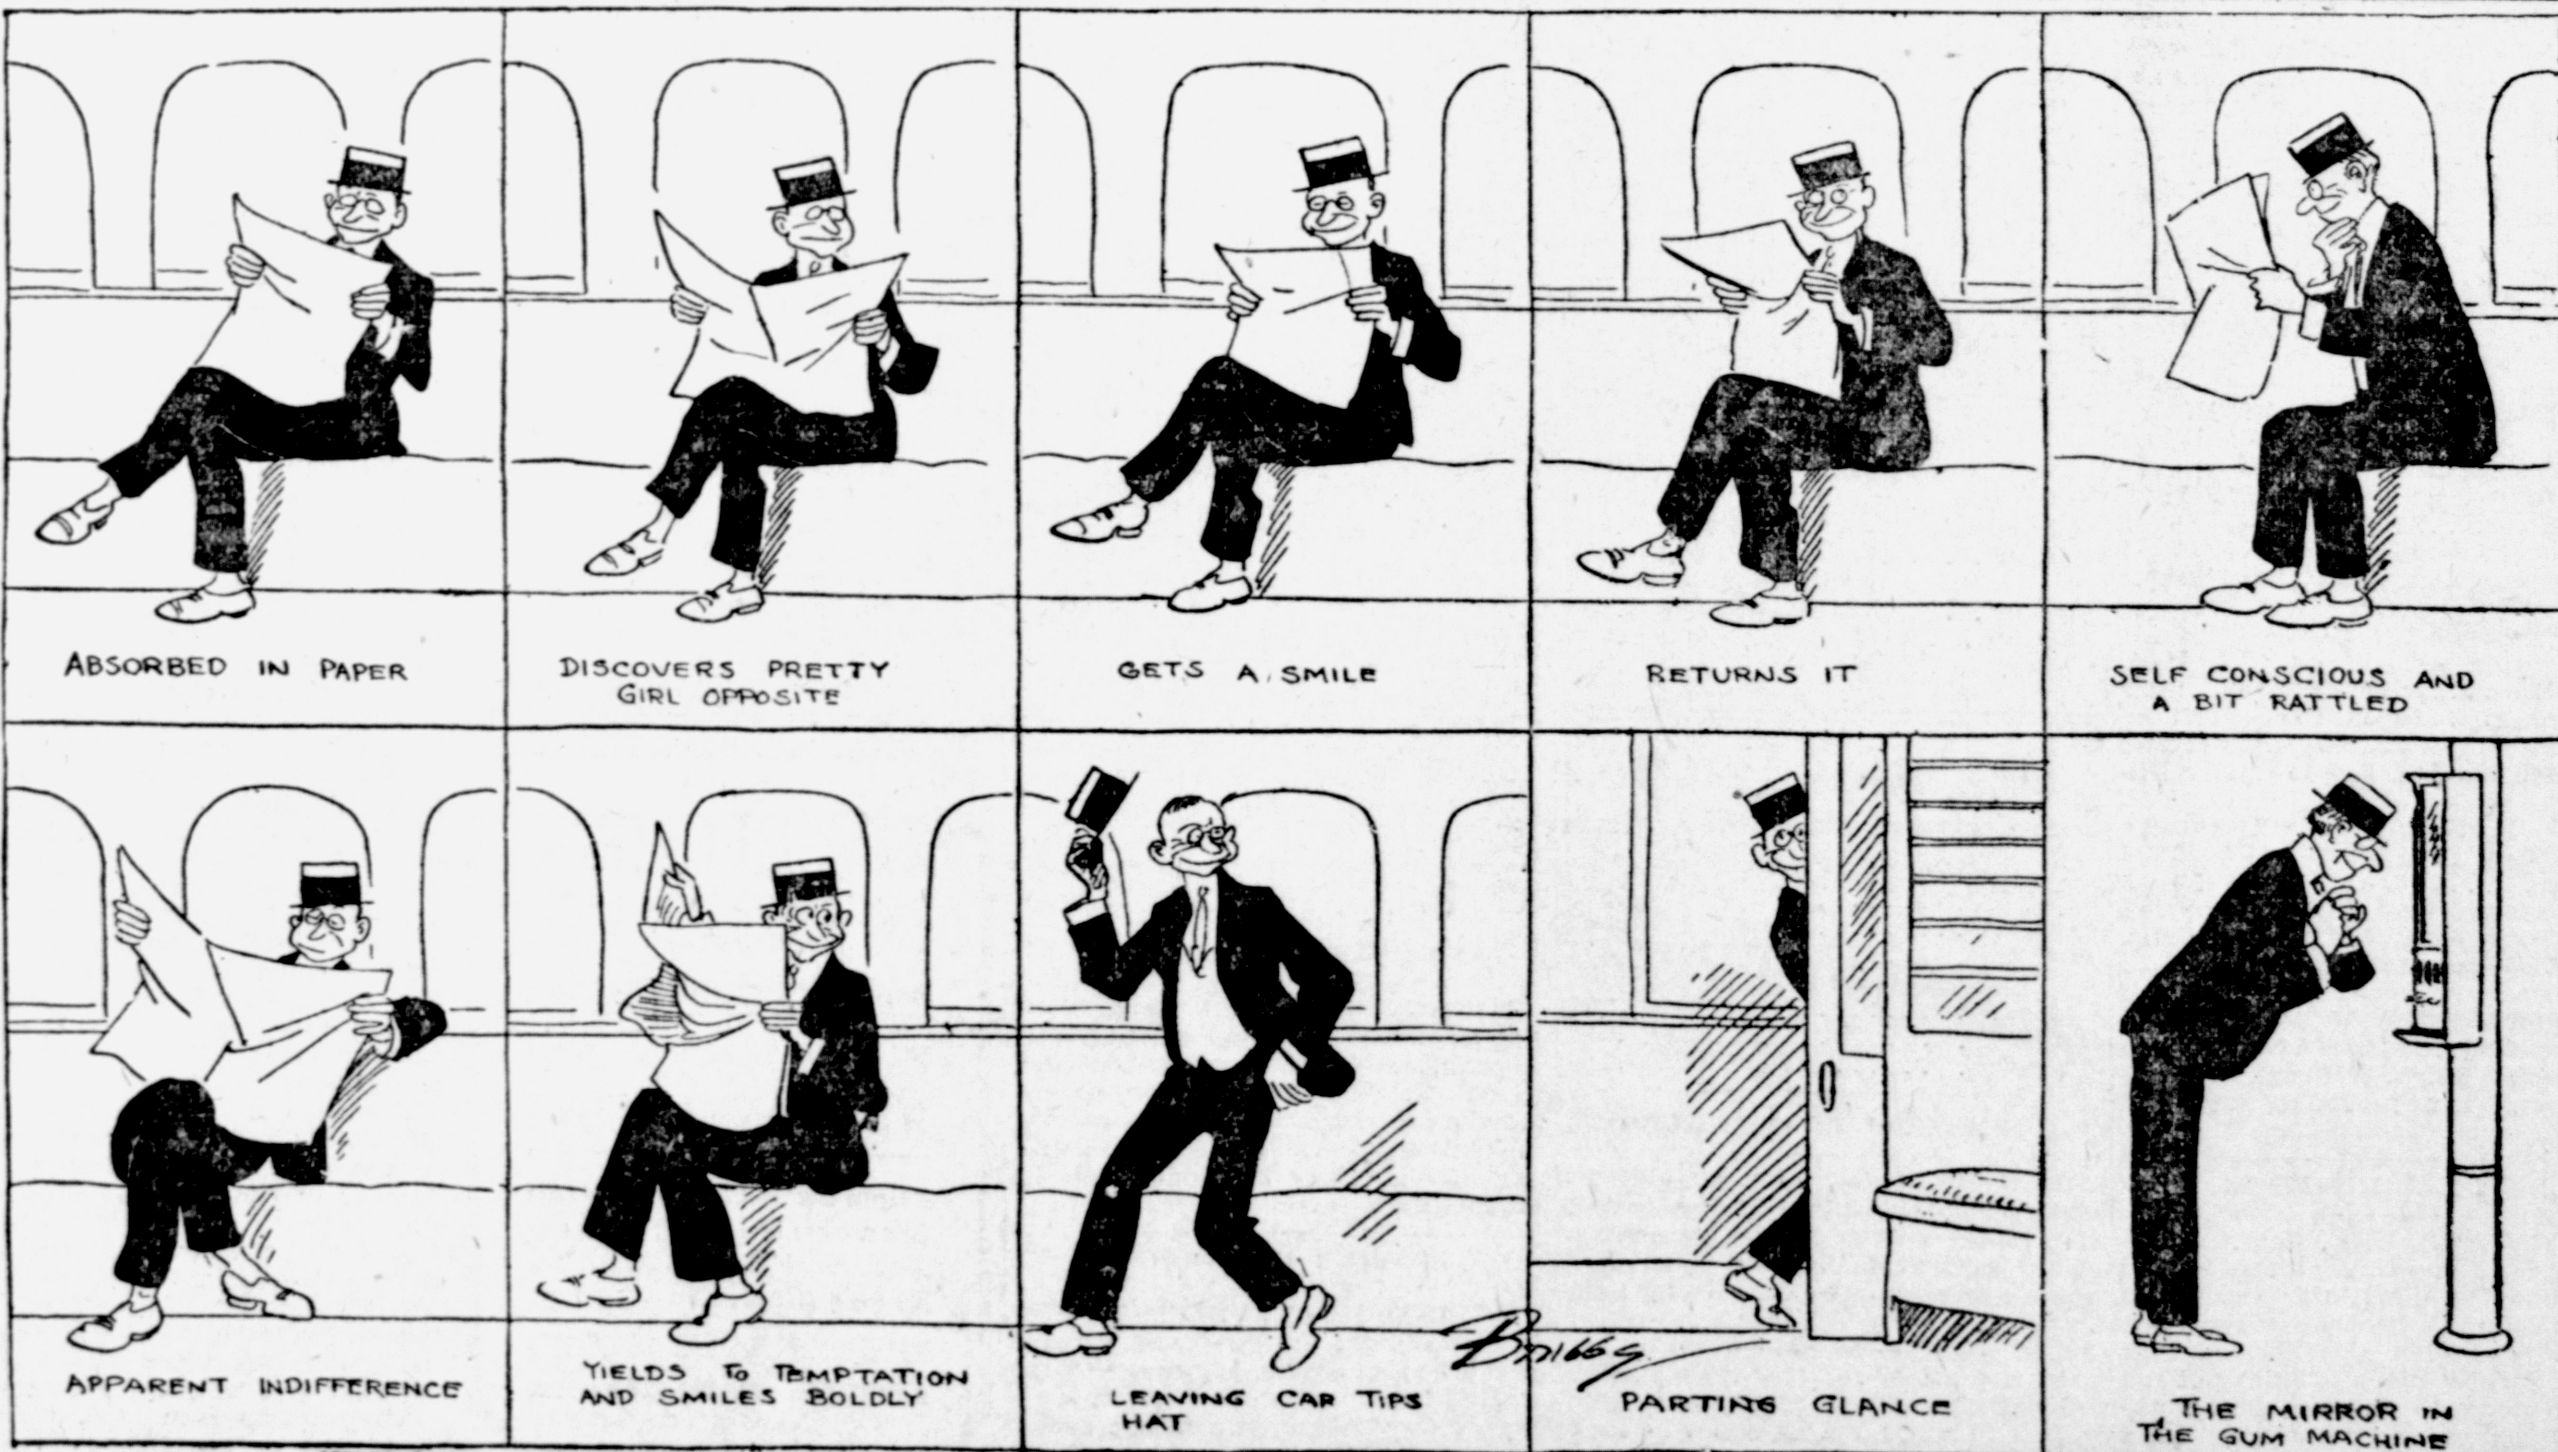

Before some preachers condemn a sin they investigate its financial standing.

WHY SOCIETY WOMEN WASH
THEIR OWN HAIR

Few realize how many society women now wash their own hair, not because it is a fad, but because they wish to obtain the greatest possible hair beauty and be sure they are not using anything harmful. The thousands who have found that in washing the hair it is never wise to use a makeshift but is always advisable to use a preparation made for shampooing only, say they get the best results from a simple home-made canthorox mixture. You can enjoy this, the best that is known, for about three cents a shampoo by getting some canthorox from your druggist, and dissolving a teaspoonful in a cup of hot water. Your shampoo is now ready. After its use the hair dries rapidly with uniform color. Dandruff, excess oil and dirt are dissolved and entirely disappear. Your hair will be so fluffy that it will look much heavier than it is. Its lustre and softness will also delight you, while the stimulated scalp gains the health which insures hair growth.

La Crosse Chamber of Commerce News Notes

BY JAMES R. KINSLOE

Every Farm a Factory

Some wise man has written: "The opportunity of the town lies in the country. The country can get along without the town, but no town has or ever will be permanently prosperous where the land is poor. . . . We must not forget that every farm is a factory, and that in every state there are thousands of these factories which need our best thought and effort to make them productive."

A meeting of the Agricultural Bureau of the Chamber of Commerce is called for tonight and will have as its program the eradication of any feeling of distrust that may exist between farmer and city business men, with the idea in mind that the best way of accomplishing this object is to prove to our farmer friend that the Chamber of Commerce and the business interests represented therein are ready to co-operate with and do for the farmer that which he will have to do for him. The Chamber of Commerce wishes to work for the best interests of the poorest as well as the richest farmer, provided the farmer will sufficiently interest himself in those problems of interest to him: we will expect the farmer to co-operate with those who would be of assistance in building up the rural community in and about La Crosse county.

This thing of getting farmers and business men closer together is pretty nice to talk about, but the Agricultural Bureau believes it is one of the biggest pieces of work a Chamber of Commerce can undertake. And the Agricultural Bureau is right. Let's all lend a hand and come out to the meeting tonight.

"Behind every successful business there is the personality of some man, and behind every magnificent city there exists some organized body of visioned men."

Civic Bureau
A meeting of the Civic Bureau is called by Chairman Goodrich for Thursday night at 8 o'clock in the temporary offices of the Chamber, second floor, 307 Main street.

The work to be undertaken by the Civic Bureau is touched upon very briefly in the by-laws of the Chamber.

"The Civic Bureau will interest itself in matters pertaining to the health, comfort and beauty of our city; and in municipal affairs generally; and shall promote friendly relations and mutual co-operation with municipal and other public officials."

This does not mean, necessarily, that the Civic Bureau will be a meddlesome bureau, nor will the Bureau pretend to be any wiser than the city council whose business it is to run the city. The responsibilities of the average citizen do not permit him, as an individual, to undertake certain duties in behalf of the entire city. On the other hand we cannot expect these duties to be performed by the local government whose authority is limited and whose duties are laid down by law. Working through the Chamber of Commerce, however, an opportunity is afforded the private citizen to study municipal problems and give free expression to his views. In this manner municipal issues are robbed of mere partisan bias and public opinion is guided toward sane and persistent progress.

It has been our experience that public officials are glad to have the benefit of the business judgment which is wrapped up in such an organization as the Chamber of Commerce of La Crosse. And that organization of business and professional men, studying the needs of the community, are going so far as to employ expert advice to aid city officials in protecting both the official city and its citizens, could be of great assistance to any municipal administration, no matter how competent it may be.

And that, in a nutshell, is the excuse the Civic Bureau has for its existence.

Isn't it worth while?

Some one says: "A state is but the reflection of its people." The same is true of communities. Cities do not make people—people make cities. Where you find scrub cities there you find scrub people. Where you find scrub homes there you will find scrub parents.

Dues
A half dozen or so of "you fellows" better come across with those dues or you will lose out on a bit of the best piece of free advertising that ever happened your way.

Are YOU guilty?

Manufacturers and Jobbers

This Bureau will hold its first meeting in the temporary quarters of the Chamber Wednesday night at 8 o'clock. Chairman Argyle Scott having mailed out notices to this effect yesterday.

There's work to be done by this important bureau and the kind of men serving on it is guarantee the work will be done and done well.

The one person worse than a quitter is the chap who is afraid to begin.

Co-operation

Where have we heard that word before?

Co-operation is the keynote of every line of endeavor. It begets service. One may worry along fooling himself with the idea that he is successful, without co-operating with his fellow manufacturer, jobber, merchant or neighbor, but sooner or later the jinx will get him and he'll be so darned lonesome that the main street of Hokah on a busy day will appear as lively to him as a Broadway cafe on New Year's Eve. It seems rather paradoxical to say that a man who considers the other fellow is always a great success in a business way. Ever since we were kids we have been advised to look after "number one," or that "self-preservation is the first law of nature," but it can be set down for a fact that the man who thinks only of himself acquires the distrust of the whole community. He sets in motion forces that work against him, and thereby creates a handicap that blocks him at every step.

If you're looking for faults, use a mirror instead of a microscope.

Don't forget—three Bureau meetings this week.

Don't expect the chairman of your Bureau to do it all. Those who try to do something and fail, are bigger men than those who try to do nothing and succeed.

ALABAMA AFTER ARMOR PLANT

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 12.—The Mussel Shoals district of Alabama, heralded as the coming center of the steel and kindred industries in America, will put in a strong bid for the proposed government armor plant, when Secretary Daniels Wednesday takes up for consideration the proposals for the various cities offering sites for the $11,000,000 plant. It is claimed in behalf of the Alabama site that it is the only district offering the combined advantages of fuel and ore at hand, together with adequate transportation facilities.

BUILDING MANAGERS MEET

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Sept. 12.—Many persons familiar with the work of maintaining and operating mercantile and office buildings are to address the ninth annual convention of the National Association of Building Owners and Managers here this week. More than 300 members were on hand Tuesday when the gathering was called to order by President Charles E. Doty of Cleveland.

Verse and Reverse

JOY!
How his bosom swells with pride,
How he sighs in deep relief,
How he feels a happy thrill
That is most beyond belief.
How he laughs and shakes in glee,
How he almost chokes with joy,
When the nurse comes down the hall
And she whispers, "It's a boy."

How he scowls and shakes his fist,
How he raves and paws the air;
How he mutters to himself
Awful exclamations there.
How his mind is full of doubt,
And his brain is in a whirl,
When the nurse comes to his side
And she whispers, "It's a girl."

How he clutches at the wall
And he gasps to get a breath,
How he reels as if to fall,
And his face turns white as death.
How he groans in his despair,
And the nurse adroitly grins,
As she meets him on the stair
And announces, "They are twins."

ENGLISH SPORTS SHOT THROUGH AND THROUGH BY WAR

Stars of Athletic World Die One by One on Battlefield Fighting Against K. Bill

BY J. W. ("BUD") PEGLER
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)
LONDON, Aug. 20.—(By Mail.)—Picture the local ball club down on the border tossing bombs at Mexican trenches; the football, tennis and track star men suddenly whisked from the field of sport.

Relatively, that is what England is up against. Sport has been put on ice till the bigger game with K. Bill of Potsdam—a game transcending all sport—has been played to a gory finish.

If American ball parks were to be suddenly deserted, with no one to beat back the weeds from the infield and the papers daily were telling how Matty, or Cobb, or Wagner died in a bayonet charge; if sportsmen's battalions of the country's keenest athletes were being punished under artillery, then the American sport fan might appreciate the English situation.

Sporting Days Tabooed
In a small way the gentles of the scrambled ear still manage to oblige but as a rule they divvy their small purses with hospital funds. Sporting meets, field days and football are no longer events, but they are the empire's surviving talent, but the public attends not so much in expectation of a contest as to kid itself along and give up for the wounded and destitute.

English football differs from the American game, but the Cedrics and Cyrils are rough performers just the same. Mostly the college players come from first families—that series of outer ripples around the big social splash—for "rigger" is not for the ordinary gink.

Their gameness knocks the props from under some mythical American conceptions. Percy may call his friend "dear boy" and turn up his wrist to see the time, but how he battles is a story told by the Victoria Cross and the D. S. O. The list of the athletic gods who have fallen in action, the Mattys and Cobbs of England, daily grows longer. Others by hundreds have been relegated to the side lines for good.

No Fear for Oarsmen
There's not much fear for the oarsmen. Englishmen think they're 110 per cent good in a shell anyway and patronizingly tell an American why. It's because their school striplings are put in a shell and taught to row; taught to like it so well they get the eager fidgets when they see an oar. Therefore the home guard logicians figures that so long as there are school boys and oars, England will boss the ripples.

The school plan," says an English pappy with gray hair and a rufous, wattled neck, "is what gives us an advantage on the water and preserves our men in later life. Practice makes for not only skill but permanent physique as well." A Sunday on the Thames confirms what he says of physiques, for there the old boy who looks all in but isn't willing to pull an oar half the day taking his family for an outing.

While English athletes claim superiority for their style of rowing and coaching they wobble in trying to match up the claim with Captain Guy Nichols' showing at Yale last year. The alibi is that Nichols couldn't be expected to teach his charges what they should have learned as kids and make champion oarsmen of them in the time allowed him.

Soccer Lowbrow
Soccer has hit the skids. The kicking game is shunned more and more by the sport elite because the "lower classes" have had the distressing gall to take it up. It would play merrily with the fitness of things if a team of uncouth stevedores mixed with a college squad. So the game is falling from favor with the athletic all highest and the chance of a deadly parallel between the uppers and lowers is slight.

Jimmy Wilde, the fly weight, holds the spot in boxing. Wilde is smaller than a split second and like most flyweights, hits like Stanley Ketchel. Clever fighters weighing as high as 110 pounds have curled up on the floor under the crushing attack of this 94 pounder. He gave away ten pounds to Johnny Hughes, a veteran, and flattened him as he pleased, so now they've run out old Pedlar Palmer, oiled up the patriarch's joints and started him off to spar exhibitions with Wilde. Jimmy is no slacker. He applied three times for an enlistment but was so scared he couldn't even make the bantam brigade. He's a knockout fighter even if he goes hat from Freddie Welsh's native village. Some day Wilde's friends hope to see him matched with Johnny Ertle if Mike McNulty's little charge can be pared down to 108 pounds.

Yes, the war has queered the sport business in England. And recently hasn't stopped there, but recently reached into the Old Folks' Home and grabbed Bill Squires in far off Australia. Bill made sure Tommy Burns wasn't fighting with Germany before deciding to give up his home and enlist, but he's on the way to the front now.

Quick, Painless Way to Remove Hairy Growths

(Helps to Beauty.)
Here is a simple, unfailing way to rid the skin of objectionable hairs: With some powdered delatone and water make enough paste to cover the hairy surface, apply and in about 2 minutes rub off, wash the skin and every trace of hair has vanished. This is quite harmless, but to avoid disappointment be sure to get the delatone in an original package.

PHILANTHROPIST IS BUILDING A TOWN FOR WORKING GIRLS

TULSA, Okla., Sept. 12.—Charles Page, multi-millionaire oil magnate and the man who built a town—Sand Springs—exclusively for widows and orphans, today completed a tent city near here for working girls and provided a free railroad on which to get them to and from it every day. Page built Sand Springs and gathered widows and orphans from throughout the country to populate it because he decided, when he was a poor boy trying to make a living for his widowed mother, that if he ever got rich he would do just that. He built the tent city because he thought living in houses in the summer time unhealthy for working girls. More than 100 Tulsa girls are living there now.

The tents are 12 by 14 feet, floored and boarded on the sides a distance of four feet, with collapsible canvas tops.

Two girls occupy one tent. The tent streets have gas flares every few yards so the girls may cook. There is fresh water and at night are lights and watchmen guard the town. There is a free bath house for the girls, and they have all the privileges of the park's concessions.

Girls who heretofore had to quit their work in the tense heat of summer are working all day in a temperature of more than a hundred and bearing up under it.

Even some of the girls from wealthier families of Tulsa made application for tents, but without success, the one only requisite being that a girl is working for her living. The plan works so splendidly that Page is contemplating the building of two hundred more tents for next year.

TO TRY NEGRO FOR MURDER

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Sept. 12.—The case of Arthur Brown, member of the Eighth (negro) regiment of the Illinois National Guard, is to be taken up for trial in the circuit court here this week. The negro is accused of murdering Policeman Frank Crowley of the local police force during the militia mobilization here early in July. Crowley was shot when he attempted to arrest Brown and a companion after a fight.

Make Weaning Time Easy For You and the Baby

You have brought your baby safe and serene to the time when he must be weaned. And as he dabs about with little fists, you think sadly of the hard and weary days before you.

But weaning time can be so easy for you and easy for the baby. It need not even ruffle the rose-leaf color in his cheeks.

Just change him from your own milk gradually, one feeding at a time, to something so like your breast milk that his tiny body will feel no change or shock. Your baby will slip easily into the use of

Nestlé's Food

(A complete food—not a milk modifier)

because Nestlé's is the nearest thing to mother's milk that doctors and scientists have given to the world.

Of course, if your baby can't have your own milk, he must have milk in some form. Since raw cow's milk is heavy and full of sickness, your baby will have to have cow's milk so changed that it will be safe for him. Cow's milk is the basis of Nestlé's, but is the milk from healthy cows and clean dairies. It is modified under the watchful care of doctors and scientists so that the heavy parts are modified. All danger of sickness is taken out. It is reduced to a powder, packed in an air-tight can, and reaches you always fresh, always pure. No hand has touched it, no germ can reach it.

No matter how careful you are at home, you could not modify your baby's milk as carefully as scientists have modified it for you in Nestlé's. You cannot free it from germs as Nestlé's does. You cannot add as much as Nestlé's does. You cannot add so

Send the coupon for a sample can (enough for 12 feedings) and see how Nestlé's makes him happy
